LEAD ME

BY NOEMI CHAVEZ

A photograph of three women with long, dark, wavy hair, laughing heartily. The woman on the left is a Black woman, the woman in the middle is a woman of Asian descent, and the woman on the right is a woman of Latin American descent. They are all smiling broadly, showing their teeth. The background is a plain, light-colored wall. An orange geometric shape is in the top right corner.

LEAD ME

WHY?

Simple, as a minister in the urban setting, I have loved leading others and participating with God to see people grow in their love for Jesus and their love for others. While on this journey, I have many times longed for mentorship. In my early years of pastoring youth there were no male or female leaders available to encourage my gifts, redirect my broken ambitions, and lead me to healthy spiritual disciplines.

Through LEAD ME I am grateful to share some of the transformative lessons I have learned through personal hardship, my own selfish ambition, confrontational correction, and through a lovingly submitted will to the Spirit of God.

ABOUT LEAD ME

Leadership in a ministry, business or the home requires a commitment to personal growth, otherwise individuals run the risk of becoming disappointed, dissatisfied and exacerbated by uncontrollable outcomes.

LEAD ME will walk the participants through six phases. These six phases are six deeply rooted life changing works God has done in me. Each phase will consist of conversations that will equip the participants both spiritually and practically and it will be my joy to share them with you. The phases center on a commitment to personal growth that will strengthen a foundation that can sustain the consistent changes we are faced with, whether in times of life celebrations, or in times of what may feel like fragmented setbacks.

Slow down enough to invest time & energy in the invisible, your mind and soul, these are with you in every season of life.

- Noemi Chavez

LEAD ME TO:

Each month, multiple aspects of each one of these phases will be unpacked in a 1.5 hour full group session. In addition, we will split into smaller groups, which will meet once a quarter for an hour, with a different group meeting each month. Each participant will acquire tools to better lead themselves and others in various capacities and I believe new friendships and collaboration opportunities will also be forged as an outcome.

It can be shocking to discover what God already knows: there's more weakness within us than we can see.

MEET NOEMI

Noemi Chavez has been pastoring in the greater Los Angeles area for over 16 years. Before leading a church, she pastored in youth ministry for over 12 years. She has served alongside her husband Joshua to disciple leaders and release them to their individual assignments within the church and parachurch organizations. She has worked with church planters for over a decade and is currently Chair of the Board for Exponential Español. Noemi is the co-founder of Brave Global, a nonprofit that bridges relationship between the local church and at-risk girls, which includes foster care and probation, as a preventative for human trafficking. She also serves on the Board of the Biola Office of Church Relations.
